COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE

OF THE TOWN MANAGER

In an attempt to better control

the dumping of rubbish at the town

dump we have hired a man on a weekly basis to oversee the location.

This will not be a full-time position but the man will be there at various times throughout the day to try to improve the general appearance of the area. Also we believe there may be a reduction in maintenance costs by not letting material be dumped as far back, causing a loss of gravel when the bulldozer pushes the material taking a layer of gravel with it.

We feel by having a person at the site he can observe who does not dump in a manner that requires the least expense to the town and instruct these people how they can better cooperate with us to keep the area maintained.

R. Glenn Murphy has been hired to assume the duties of spare police officer to replace Ronald Coulombe who has resigned due to a conflict with other responsibilities.

SPRING CON

GREENWOOD CITY — SOUTH WOODSTOCK

— Mrs. Collata Morgan, Corres. —
From my window I can hear the sounds of nature fill the air. The soft wind whistles. The trees are so green. The pond frogs give forth a husky serenade. There's a silver ripple on the water while in the distance my mountains wear scarlet shawls.

One new comer this week is the Baltimore oriole, a scrap of sunset with a voice. As I worked in my garden he called over and over sometimes seeming to say, "Oh here he, see me up here". At other times it was "What year, what year?" And even though I told him he refused to listen. His ear was only for his mate who pleasantly responded with her own sweet song. She was gathering string from the branches near the house.

At the farm the bobolink, our commoner between continents, has arrived. He still wears "a bright black wedding coat" while his "quaker wife" is pretty and quiet! With plain brown wings is inconspicuous. Above our heads he gushes and gurgles his inimitable song, pouring forth floods of sweet notes in a wonderful variety and volume, a mixture beyond description. How can his little body hold such wonderful song stuff! Even one pours forth music enough for a whole flock. I love his glowing bubbling melody.

My jewel and incredible dynamo, the hummingbird zoomed up behind me to visit a red tulip while I was at work.

Across the pond I've seen the blue heron, my philosopher, and the bittern, with its "pumping" song, both so motionless as they watch for their dinner.

A few warblers have made me a visit. One was olive green and yellow. He rested on my window sill. On his head there was a black bonnet which hid under his chin. I'm not sure which he was. I walked close to him and he stayed and talked to me with his eyes; so unafraid. As yet I have not seen the bluebirds. I miss their rich, crisp warbling which is so delightfully sweet and whisperingly low.

The rosy red purple finch and brownish gray male seem to especially like the sand by the garage. When not singing a glad carol from the tree top they are in the sand by the garage.

These birds and many more mingled with the smell of cherry blossoms, earth after showers, apple blossoms, lilacs and woodland flowers; nature freely provides whether you gaze through a window or are outside viewing the country side.

Annie Mills of Stadsburgh, spent some time at her cottage here this week and also visited her sister, Collata Morgan. On Wednesday they visited their aunt, Hattie Curtis in West Sumner.

Mrs. Ada Tanner and Mrs. Leona Curtis, East Bethel, were Sunday callers at Mrs. Clyde Morgan's.

Doris Hayes and Collata Morgan attended a retirement party Tuesday evening at the Glatfelter Cottage in Oxford for Avis Stethorn and Doris Slattery. Others attending were Louie Coffin, Dorothy Ross, Agnes Gray, Lyndell Farr, Myrtle Richardson, William Slattery and the honored guests, Avis and Doris. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Isman, West Paris, were at their camp here for the week end.

On Tuesday, Katherine Hakala and Jean Millett attended the P.T.A. supper and meeting at Woodstock. Joan Morgan and Irene Hanson were in Lewiston on Thursday.

Glehen Hakala has returned home after two weeks with the National Guard.

Sgt. Raymond Hakala, New Jersey, was in town over the week end to attend the anniversary party for his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hakala on Saturday evening.

Collata Morgan attended the retirement party for Alice Ballard and

— Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres. —
The "Willing Workers" met at the Union Church Thursday evening with the following in attendance, Barbara Cash, Goldie Mason and son, Eleanor Koskela, Muriel Brown, June Demarest, Olive Davis, Marta Clements, Sheryl Wilbur and daughter, Esther Davis and a new member joined us, Susan Rainey, whom we are glad to welcome to our ranks.

General business was taken up and future plans made. Our next meeting will be June 17th at the Church. Don't forget to come. Look up your Bible word for June also. Refreshments were served after adjournment.

Ellis Davis attended the three point meeting held at West Paris Thursday night.

Julie Martin, Bryant Pond, spent a couple nights with Judy Campbell this week end. June Bailey visited Judy Sunday.

Bessie Fuller returned home to West Paris after staying with Mrs. Jessie Andrews for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Lord called on Mrs. Jessie Andrews Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Bowen went

The message at the morning worship service on May 23, was brought by Pastor David L. Shaw. The Junior Choir under the direction of Mrs. Kay Mason, with Mrs. Timothy Joy, pianist, furnished a special number and also responses to the invocation and Benediction.

Many from this area will be attending the World Conference of the denomination next month in Atlantic City, New Jersey. It is anticipated that more than 25,000 Adventists will gather at Convention Hall for this quadrennial session. Of this number some 1500 will be officials, voting delegates, representing members in 193 countries.

Delegates will hear reports from all divisions and departments of the Church. They will vote on the election of a president for the world organization as well as other administrative matters for the Church's world headquarters in ten overseas divisions. Matters of policy will receive study and action and plans will be laid for the next four years.

Libby Kneeland at Telstar Wednesday evening, Ruth Hastings, with whom she went also attended.

George Mason, Locke Mills, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mason.

James and Charles Coffin, West Paris, were callers at Norman Mill's over the week end.

The Hayes family were callers at the John Huns, Norway, on Saturday.

Nancy Hutton spent the week end at her home in New Hampshire.

One of the citations from "Gospel and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Christian Science reveals Truth and Love as the most powerful of man's God-given faculties, and bestows peace from this cooperation with God. THE WORLD'S GOLD STAR MOTHER SPEAKS
by Phyllis Deck
Pin no bright star upon my breast,
To honor, dear, my son.
His life is lost and still no gain though year may boast a victory won.

Instead of hymns and grand Amens with pious prayers to guide our Youth,
Heed well the words that He dared to say
In anger, for he spoke the truth:
"A child shall lead us," my son said.
Even now you fail to see
He meant an angry, frightened child
Who weeps at Man's duplicity.

Let me, the dead, who died with him—
and all the other mothers too—
Pay silent homage to our sons.
Save your own prayers for you.
If you would honor my great loss,
One day a year will not suffice.
You will need Eternity—or more,
and NOW, Today, you'll end all strife!

WHAT MAKES A HAPPY FAMILY?

It's something we all want, for ourselves and for the world. But if we work within the limits of human frailties, a happy family may seem a difficult goal. What we need is a new approach... a spiritual dimension that puts God at the center of all family relationships. Hear this lecture "What Makes a Happy Family?" by HARRY S. SMITH, G.S.B., of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

THANK YOU

A sincere thank you to all who helped make this year's poppy program a success. I'd like to name a few. Mr. Messer and Mrs. Taylor, and all the 4th, 5th, and 6th grade teachers who encouraged the children in making their posters and the judges who had to decide between 52 posters, deserve a big thanks. Don Brown and Barbara Brown helped a great deal with their pictures. We appreciate the kindness of the many stores where the poppy posters were displayed and especially the post office. Irving Brown lettered the ribbon for Miss Poppy at a busy time for him and a special thanks to Maxine Brown for taking care of the children's parade.
